

Women's Day with nikkibush

CHOOSE A TALK FOR YOUR BUSINESS

Do you want the women in your organisation, or your clients, to win @ work and life? Let me help you empower your female audience to celebrate the journey they have travelled to get to 'here', inspiring them to be mission-ready for anything and helping them to reframe change or disruption of any kind. I have three specific presentations for Women's Day/Month that will tick these boxes for you.

My most regularly booked talks for women:

- Which Jacket are You Wearing Now?
- Reframing COVID-19 to Win @ Work and Life
- What If 'what if' Happens to You?

nikkibush
Helping you win @ work and life

Which Jacket are You Wearing Now?

Celebrating how you got to here

Do we ever stop to wonder how we got to here? This presentation is a reminder to every woman of the journey they have walked; how everything they have done and experienced to this point has contributed to where they find themselves now. It's also a celebration of the lessons and wisdom they have learnt along the way that continue to shape and inform their own personal empowerment story, their own brand of one. Nothing is forgotten, nothing is lost.

Inspirational speaker and best-selling author, Nikki Bush, takes your audience behind the scenes of what it takes to build a strong personal brand. In this vibrant, energetic presentation she will wear five different jackets sharing the most important lessons she learnt from wearing each of them, while building three different careers. Today she is a stand-out brand of one, a thought leader and media personality who inspires other women to aim higher while staying true to who they are.

Her presentation highlights:

- How to hold on to what's important to you
- The importance of connecting with others and not travelling through life alone
- Finding mentors on your journey
- Owning one's choices
- How life doesn't always unfold in a straight line
- The importance of a flexible mindset and opportunity eyes

“Nikki presented her 5 Jackets talk to the women in Vodacom Group's Finance Team on the occasion of International Women's Day for 2019 - what an inspiration! A fabulous speaker with so many lessons we can all relate to - considered by many of the women present as simply the best they have listened to. Down to earth but with world class finesse and so much energy and passion.” Sandi Linford, Group Company Secretary at Vodacom who hosted the International Women's Day event at Vodacom

Talk type : Keynote
Talk length : 60 minutes
Group size : Unlimited

BOOK NIKKI

nikkibush
Helping you win @ work and life

Reframing COVID-19

To win @ work and life

Nikki Bush, Human Potential and Parenting Expert, will help you to reframe the lockdown and re-phasing in experience, to keep perspective and continue to show up realistically at work and at home over this disruptive time.

She will challenge your perceptions of change, help you to come to terms with not knowing what the future looks like, give you tools to keep perspective as well as providing some practical tips for those who are working at home with children.

This acclaimed, moving and high impact presentation will reset your mind and shift your heart. You will walk away with frameworks and useful resources to help you to continue to win at work and life, prepared for a marathon, not a sprint.

Nikki will help you to:

- Keep perspective
- Avoid fight, flight or freeze
- Understand the stages of adjustment and transition to a new normal
- Reframe change and disruption
- Find collateral beauty in collateral damage
- Feel positive about future possibilities

“The power of your work is that you give pictures and words to how people are feeling through your stories and frameworks. You help people to find themselves in the chaos. By reducing the emotional charge they have permission to feel, and you provide tools to help them to bring themselves back from confusion into orbit. Thank you for helping us to keep perspective at this time.” Tammy Beira, Talent Partner, Bowmans

Talk type : Keynote
Talk length : 60 minutes
Group size : Unlimited

BOOK NIKKI

nikkibush
Helping you win @ work and life

What If 'what if' Happens for Women

How prepared are you for disruption in your life?

How prepared are your female staff or clients, practically and emotionally, to cope should a 'what if' moment happen to them? No-one's life unfolds in a straight line, either professionally or personally. Disruption is part of the human condition and we all experience it in very different and sometimes profound and life-changing ways, whether it is the loss of a loved one, a home, health, wealth, a business or a job.

As media personality, award-winning speaker and best-selling author, Nikki Bush, shares her story of six short minutes that changed her life forever, she will inspire your audience and show them how to see collateral beauty in collateral damage. They will be moved to shift their perspective of loss, trauma, change or disruption as a pathway to growth. They will be motivated to create peace of mind by getting their practical affairs in order using Nikki's blueprint for being mission-ready for when a 'what if' moment strikes, as it will.

Nikki will share:

- The six minutes that changed her life
- How loss and trauma impacted her:
 - Her brain
 - Her body
 - Her brand
 - Her business
- Challenges faced and lessons learnt
- Her blueprint for how to be 'mission-ready' for when a 'what if' moment strikes

*"I was blown away by Nikki's courage and vulnerability, sharing her personal story. I cannot recommend Nikki highly enough as a speaker who will motivate and inspire any audience, empowering them to see loss and change differently." Madeleine Black, international speaker, TEDx speaker and psychotherapist

Talk type : Keynote
Talk length : 60 minutes
Group size : Unlimited

BOOK NIKKI

nikkibush
Helping you win @ work and life

Women's Day with nikkibush

SPEAKER FEES

- R37 950 per virtual presentation
- A different fee structure applies for SMMEs and educational institutions
- US$12 950 for virtual presentations for overseas clients
- Full payment required prior to the event
- I am versatile and adaptive with experience of over a dozen different virtual conferencing platforms
- Should you wish me to host the event on my Zoom account (up to 100pax) or on WebinarJam (up to 5 000pax), a small fee of R3 500 will apply for admin and technical management

Enquiries: info@nikkibush.com

nikkibush
Helping you win @ work and life